True North

North Henderson students cheer the football team on at the Homecoming game against East. Students always had a lot of school spirit

The Marching Band was essential in providing entertainment at football games and pep rallies.

True

North

These spirited guys brave the freezing cold weather to support their school. Painting stomachs was a favorite among the guys and the crowd loved it.

True North is about diversity, school spirit, and friends. North Henderson is all of this and more. Whether it's supporting our athletic teams, participating in club activities, excelling in academics, or just being there for your friends, North Henderson always comes out on top. North Henderson is made up of many different kinds of people, and all of these people come together to make up True North. From the ones who played on a sports team to the ones who never missed a game, from the ones who excelled at academics to the ones who really didn't care. All of these people somehow made a difference and contributed something whether by participating in a club, a sports team or just by offering a friend some valuable advice. So, as the inaugrual bell rang once again to mark the beginning of a new year, students readied themselves to face new challenges and to head in the right direction.

The East Henderson "Eagle," Mr. Gore, is killed by the "Knight," Melissa Walden. The "Knight" mascot could be seen at football games and pep rallies getting the crowd excited.

Jannelle Palenscar, Shanna Holbert, Serena McKinney, and the rest of their group practice the dance that they made up for their Dance One class.

Katie Pace, Tiffany Conrad, Corey Stepp, and Katie Phelan hang out and talk during lunch. Lunch was always a good way to socialize and to catch up on gossip.

The diverse population of the school with the separate interests of the students made the student body diverse in its own way. Although everyone was unique, members of each class shared common experiences. Freshmen started out scared not knowing really what to expect during the upcoming year, due to the rapid transition from middle school to high school. Sophomores had finally made it out of the bottom, but they still had a long way to go until they could be cream of the crop. Juniors started the year with confidence since they knew they had two years behind them. The seniors had finally made it to the top. Classes did not seem so bad now that they looked forward to cheering at sporting events and knowing the weekend was not far away. The people of North Henderson are what make TRUE

Summer Vacation

We're Sone ...

When school let out last year, we all went our separate ways to enjoy our summer vathough we had a short had FUN!

The whole stuits summer in many difof us went to schools or on mission trips, others overseas or anywhere us worked, and some cation. Even summer, we still

A Knight To Remember

The Prom Proves to be . . .
a Night to Remember

Long before the big night of the 1998 Junior/Senior prom, preparations had begun. The girls started shopping for dresses and the boys started renting their tuxes. The special night occurred on April 25, 1998 at Deer Park Inn on the Biltmore Estate in Asheville. Robbie Weast said that "the Deer Park Inn was decorated very nicely." James Albritton and Julie Peterson took over the royal titles of prom King and Queen. Former senior Trent Howell said he "thoroughly enjoyed" himself. For seniors this was one of the last events they would have together before graduation approached. For juniors it was one of the last events they would have before they became seniors at North Henderson. However, the festivities never end right after the prom. There were plans for many post prom parties after the dance. Many people talked of how they couldn't wait until next year. Mr. Pittillo thought, "It was a beautiful night. The kids looked good, and I'm looking forward to next year." The prom proved to be A Knight To Remember.

Home Sweet Home

Kristen Case is Crowned Queen

Homecoming here at North has always been a spirited time for the student body. The whole week is spent by preparing for the big game on Friday night. This year the event was more exciting than ever.

The theme for the week was Hawaiian Beaches. The dress up days included Military Day, Blast from the Past, Crazy Sock/Hat Day, Beach Day, and Purple and Gold Day. The class competition was tough as each class sought first place. Powder Puff and field events such as tug-o-war enabled many students to get involved in the week's events. On Friday afternoon the pep rally created even more spirit. Josh Wyatt was crowned the 1998 Homecoming King.

Excitement was in the air Friday night as people came to cheer our team on against the East Henderson Eagles. As game-time approached, the traffic was backed up on Highway 64 with fans all the way back to Ingles. Many came not only to support the Knights but to cheer Kristen Case on as she was crowned Homecoming Queen. Alumni came from all over to watch the game as well.

Even though we lost by one point, the Knights played a great game. Homecoming Week had served its purpose by bringing everyone together for our school including students, faculty, parents, alumni, community members, and the team.

On top of the world... Escorted by Jeremy Young and Evan Shipp, the 1998 Homecoming Queen Kristen Case is filled with excitement as the 1997 Queen Julie Peterson places the crown on her head. Kristen was the perfect choice of the student body because her outstanding personality represents the spirit of True North.

True Spirit A Year for the Knights

It was a great year for the North Henderson students. The students were always trying to keep the spirit in any way possible. From football games on Friday nights, to Homecoming week, these students were cheering their school on.

The student body had several ways of showing how they were "true" to their school. Some Knights enjoyed wearing the school colors, purple and gold. Others took that concept a step further and painted their faces and hair. Some students were even seen running around the track on Friday nights with their shirts off.

Apart from rooting for their home team, each individual class made an effort to show their spirit. The students enjoyed competing in class spirit. This was done mainly at the pep rallies and during Homecoming week. Each class had a part in this, but the Senior Class always had a creative way of showing their loyalty to North. At one pep rally, varsity football coach, Mac Cumbo quoted the Beach Boys by saying, "Be true to your school." The North Henderson students definitely lived up to this quote.

-Dathan Wilds-

Go Knights!...

The stands are packed and the crowd rises to their feet as the Knights score a touchdown. Friday nights at the football games were a great time to catch up on the events in the upcoming weekend.

And the survey says...

- -3 out of 5 students participate in extra curricular activities at North
- -744 out of 750 people go to the pep rallies
- -9 out of 10 students have a tattoo of the North Knight on their thigh
- -93% of North Henderson students paint their toenails purple and gold

"I enjoyed cheerleading this year. Spirit was an important part of the role we had to play as cheerleaders."

-Erica Hathcock-

"School spirit is something that cannot easily be defined but is seen in the intensity and compassion of the atheletes."

-Andrew McCabe-

"School spirit is something we can do to support our teams and bring the student body together."

Taking Care of Business

In each class there are a few students elected and chosen by their peers to carry out the duties that make the year run smoothly. The Senior class officers helped out with Senior privileges, collected money for graduation, and helped out with major events like Homecoming and Prom. Being a Senior class officer took a great amount of time. "We put forth a lot of effort this year to make it the best for everyone." said Vice President Brad Brevard. "Without teamwork and cooperation from each other it probably wouldn't have been as successful." The four students devoted themselves to Senior class projects and took on massive amount of responsibility to make everyone's senior year a memorable one.

The Rest of the Story

The senior class began to focus on their futures as the last year of their high school career started. There was a variety of choices to be made concerning the opportunities after graduation. Whether the members of the senior class decided to enter college, join the military, or enter the work force, they were faced with decisions which would affect the rest of their lives. Many students who planned on going to college scrambled to fill out applications, make campus visits, and apply for financial aid. Military recruiters could be found calling students or visiting the shcool during lunch to answer questions. Some students had an early start in the work force by taking on part-time jobs.

A Privileged Class

As each Senior class moves up, it gains special privileges which unite them as a class. One of the most popular privileges is the opportunity to leave class five minutes ahead of the underclassmen for lunch and at the end of the day. The privilege of off campus lunch and the chance to eat lunch in the courtyard are other favorites the Seniors enjoy. Stars of the Show

The athletics program at North is full of talent. Much of this talent is in the Senior class. Many Seniors work harder their final year to achieve a scholarship in their athletic field. Even to participate in sports, the students know that they have to keep their grades to a required average. Some Seniors juggled school work and their jobs while participating in their events. While some seniors took sports seriously this year, others played for fun and simply enjoyed their last year of high school.

The Fine Arts Groove

The talents of a group of seniors are brought together by the word ART. Each year these seniors work diligently to get their goals accomplished. These goals might include finishing a picture, producing a play, or even perfecting a song in the band. Personal time, before, during and after school is needed to meet these goals, but hard work pays off in the end.

Life At The Top

As the true effect of senior life set in, seniors were faced with new responsibilities which helped to prepare them for life after graduation. Many seniors held jobs that helped them to pay for the high costs of car payments, dating, and the expenses that came along with simply being a senior. By taking on new responsibilities, our seniors gained more trust and respect from their parents and were often rewarded with special privileges such as later curfews and fewer restrictions.

"Dating is a good way to meet different kinds of people and experience the ups and downs of relationships," said Amy Penland. When it comes to the dating game, the juniors know it all. The obvious first step would be to introduce yourselves and become better acquainted with each other. In a recent junior class survey, most people said they liked to become friends with the person they liked before actually dating them. "I like to get to know the person first before I actually start dating them because you never know who might turn out to be psycho," said junior, Kristy Grindstaff. After you get to know that special someone, you can start planning the BIG DATE! When asked what they expected on a first date, many juniors liked the traditional dinner and a movie. Jennifer Dorsey said she expected "something better than McDonald's." Many girls looked forward to a flower, while the boys looked forward to a kiss. According to the survey, a lot of students preferred dating in groups to relieve some of those nervous jitters. Your date can turn out to be a success or a failure, but just look on the bright side, at least you get a movie out of it.

Getting Juniors use spare time to help out Involved

By their junior year, most students had become involved in many different aspects of school life, much different from when they were freshmen. They were faced with new reponsibilities, such as raising money for the Junior/Senior Prom. The class officers and junior Student Council members worked hard to make the year better, whether it was sponsoring a canned food drive or staying at school until (eek!) 12:30a.m. decorating the hallways for Homecoming. Juniors involved in other clubs helped keep the school clean, encouraged school spirit, tutored their peers, helped out in the community, and made an overall positive impact on those around them.

The Juniors at North Henderson are good at many things, and one of those is sports. All year 'round you will find many Juniors excelling in all different types of sports like football, basketball, swimming, cheerleading, soccer, wrestling, and many more. There is much competition between the other high schools, and even among themselves. Some students play sports outside of school to better themselves and play the sport they have come love.

Everyone gets stressed out, but the Junior Class always has it rough. The Junior year is the time when most students start looking into colleges and develop a true pride for their school. This pride makes us want to be involved in school activities, and it makes us strive to do our best in class, which can be very stressful at times. However, the Junior Class this year handled their responsibilites with ease. Many students from the Junior Class were able to keep up their grades as well as make a difference in school spirit at North.

Knight Our so called lives Out

Juniors soon found out that this school year would be one of the toughest they had ever faced. So the question they had to answer was, "How to cope?" The answer they found was simple: get away from school! Juniors found many ways to have fun and relieve stress. Some went to movies, restaurants, parties, or just anywhere with friends. They made it a year never to forget. Even though the junior year was stressful, they also made it fun.

The junior year is considered the hardest year academically because of the many honors and advanced classes as well as the rush to get required credits for the senior year. Afterschool activities become more necessary for academically demanding courses and sports. As the senior year aproaches, sports become more demanding and more rewarding.

Eleven years behind us and only one more to go! The past eleven years went by fast, and we are all looking forward to being the seniors that we all know we can be. Each of us has gone through a lot in these past eleven years, and we've pulled through to become one of the strongest junior classes ever. As we prepare for the responsibilities of seniors, we will also enjoy what is left of our lives as juniors. We are no longer the last on the chain. Many of North's juniors drove to school in style. Everything from BMWs to Saturns to Mustangs, high rise and low riding trucks filled the parking lots. There were few convertibles among the rows of vehicles. Many juniors enjoyed loud music. For example, Seth McKinney had a phat system in his Camero. Although they enjoyed the privilege of driving cars to school, juniors couldn't wait to be seniors when they could park closer to the school and, hopefully, be on time to class.

Free Time

Using Our Time Wisely.

Free time was something that many sophomores didn't have much of. Jobs, friends, weekends, sports, clubs, and boyfriends/girlfriends were among many things sophomores enjoyed. Heath Day said that in his free time, "I mountain bike, and for school sports I run, and besides that my mom usually controls my life." It was hard to find any free time after extra curricular acivities that occurred before and after school. Andrew McCabe said, "In my free time

I enjoy such endeavors as soccer and wrestling." Many sophomores had jobs so that they could buy their cars or favorite outfits. Many clubs required hard work and extra time for their members: Student Council and Keywannettes, for instance, required members to have a certain amount of points for each month to stay in the club. The way the students used their free time represented True North.

This was the first year that North had a J.V. softball team. With the help of three great coaches, the team improved their softball skills. Teammates Jennifer Wilkins and Lucy Jones were named MVP by their teammates for their outstanding effort. Because this was the first J.V. team at North, the season was one of trial and error and of building a new team.

Along with Tara Warren, many of the team members agree that "this season was a great experience. Learning new things really helped us improve. This was a season of hard work and fun play!

his was the second year we had a Lady Knights soccer team at North High.

Melinda Tapia said, "We had a great team, even though we lacked in experience. We all hope to have a better season and win more games in the '99 season." We had one of the hardest working and most improved girls' soccer teams by the end of the season.

"We had a rough season because we are such a young team, but overal we improved since last year. Owen was our biggest victory because they killed us the time before. We are trying to build a stronger team and we hope to have a good year th upcoming season,"said Meredith Manning.

he Knight's Indoor Track Team was extremely successful this season. Several members qualified to run at the state competition. Indoor track, like other endurance sports, takes extreme mental control. Pushing on for that last breath of air is important in order to be successful. The '98 - '99 Indoor Track team showed that endurance and perseverance. According to state meet qualifier, Shaneka Evans, "This year's indoor track season was very exciting. I got to do things I've never done before, including breaking some personal records! I've never done indoor track before, but now that I know what it's like, I wish I had done it during the earlier years of my high school career."

Clubs and Academics at North Henderson play a major role in a student's social life. There are many clubs at North. They range from service clubs to honor societies. Almost everyone at North has something to contribute to a club of some kind. Even i f you have your head stuck in the books all the time or love to act, we have something to offer everyone. Many clubs required members to be present at all meetings. Such clubs as Student Council and Keywanettes have point systems that each member must meet every month to maintain membership. Many clubs such as BASIC and Fellowship of Christian Athletes include their students' own beliefs in their club and act on their beliefs as a whole. Interact and Keywanettes are both service clubs who do for others in their spare time. Each club had its own way of helping others in general, but the exceptional difference that makes our clubs at the way we are able to work together for one common goal. This goal is to keep means involved in their school so that they do not get burnt out on their school work.

"Interact is a great service club, and I like Mrs. Hill," said Adam Huntley.

One for All

Many service organizations of North Henderson planned activities for the school and community to lend a helping hand to others.

The Keywanette Club was a strong organization throughout the school year. This year they volunteered to help Hospice in many ways. The Keywannettes had a great time babysitting for the Department of Social Services, putting on a Halloween Carnival, and sponsoring a needy family during the holidays.

The Interact Club had a very successful year in service activities. Members enjoyed reading to the kids at Edneyville Elementary. The Interact Club did many more volunteer activities to help out around the community.

HELPING

Being in a club at North Henderson requires a tremendous amount of time, as most students soon found out. Students involved in Student Coucil had to earn their place. First, all members had to be elected to Student Council, so not just anyone could join the club. To earn their keep in Student Council, the members had to help with certain activities and earn a set amount of points for that month. Student Council was very successful in many of the activities they helped sponsor.

Future

Students look forwards

Students involved in Future Farmers of America and Future Teachers of America are already planning for the future. For most members, these clubs give them an inside look into the fields that they are thinking about entering. The clubs let them experience a job to see if it is really what they are intrested in. In FTA the students are able to set up times to shadow teachers at different schools to see if they really want to become teachers. In FFA students are able to try out different farming techniques and machines.

The Health Occupations Students of America and the Future Homemakers of America at North prepare their members for life after high school. In addition to the many other clubs, these two help their members to get a better idea of careers and jobs that they might be interested in. They work to give a jump start to the students and help them learn about reality. The HOSA organization specializes in the care of ill people. They take trips to hospitals and elderly homes and also help take care of people who cannot take care of themselves.

Our pride and joy

Of the many clubs at North Henderson, there are a few that stand out. Such clubs include National Honor Society (NHS), National Art Honors Society (NAHS), and TRI-M. These academic clubs call for students who excel in their schoolwork and are willing to do service for others. Students must meet certain criteria in order to be accepted into these clubs, and Tri-M members must even perform an ensemble. Once in the clubs, these students commit much of their time and effort to club activities. The hard work of all the club members and sponsors has awarded these organizations with much respect in the eyes of the student body as well as the community.

Show Time!

To be in a club at North Henderson, you have to be willing to be involved at school more than the usual time you spend there. First of all, there are the many club meetings to attend, and if you are in one of the clubs such as International Thesbian Society, there are certain requirements to fullfill such as acting classes to take and a set number of hours that you have to spend in a play. In the club Odyssey of the Mind, there are many specifications to join. This year's team had to go through tryouts because there were so many potential members. The club members must complete a problem in order to compete in the annual competition. One example of a problem might be writing and performing in a play.

Just for Fun

Dance Department Goes All Out

Dance classes were electives that could be taken for fun or for learning new dances. The dance team, which is fairly new to North Henderson, became a class so they could have more dance practice time. The dance team came up with all of their dances originally and practiced during school hours and staged during halftime at sports and at pep rallies. The dance classes also performed at special performances to have a chance to show off their skills.

TrueBlues

This year the Knights proved that they could play the blues better than anyone.

The 1998 Fall Marching Band went through a lot of ups and downs this season. When the games got rough, the marching Knights stepped on the field to show True Pride in their school. In October, the marching Knights went to a marching band competition at Alcoa, Tennessee where they placed excellent. The Flag Corps, unlike most, came on the field with new and original moves. They helped to keep the spirits high with their graceful, exciting moves. The audience loved their choice for a Blues Brothers Show. "It was a good season, the forms on the field were great, and everyone did a great job," Said Band Director, Gerald Ledford. He was also in charge of the North Henderson Concert Band which gave many great concerts in the off season.

The Strings play for the National Honor Society Induction service. Their accompaniment lent a certain grandness to many school events and productions.

Musically Inspired

North Henderson is fortunate to have a string orchestra as well as a chorus. Strings, taught by Ms. Johnson, play accompaniament for dramatic productions staged by the Thespians and other school functions such as National Honor Society induction and Knight Fest. The Chorus, taught by Dr. Warren, also performs for Knight Fest and treats the community to their harmonies, especially at Christmas.

-Excalibur Staff

Adam Huntley practices the bass violin during class. Adam made a worthy contribution to the Strings Ensemble.

Chorus students show that practice isn't all work and no play. Making beautiful music was as much fun as it was challenging.

Evan Shipp uses his talent in a practical way. Evan spent long hours hand painting room numbers over classroom doors.

Artistically Inclined

Drama and Art played a big part in every-day school activities this year. Art student Evan Shipp put a lot of time and effort into painting the room numbers over the doors. Other art students helped make props for the drama department. Many students, faculty, and parents enjoyed the annual spring play. Drama and Art classes gave students a chance to open up and express themselves through artistic expression.

Sketching a picture... Mr. Lewis's Art I class sketches the customary still life drawing for class. Art was a good way for students to develop creative skills.

This year we were very successful in selling ads to purchase our yearbook. Our staff worked extremely hard selling ads over the summer to many businesses who were generous to give money for ads. Businesses spent between fifty dollars and one hundred fifty dollars for an ad in this year's publication. By doing this, we helped each other out in many ways. We were able to purchase all the materials we needed a produce a great yearbook, and we gave businesses a little exposure to the surrounding area. When we look back over the past year, we can see all those who have been willing to give us a hand in our time of need. We appreciate all the businesses who have contributed to our 98-99 Excalibur yearbook, for you are the ones who have inspired the theme, TRUE XORTH.

Dear Lisl,
Thanks for being a wonderful daughter. You always did as we asked as we guided you into adulthood.
Always happy and eager to please, you've made quite an impression on us. It's your turn now; you have all the tools, go impress yourself.

Karen, We want you to know how very proud we are. We think about all the wonderful things we did together. You were always so independent. From the age of two it was, "I can do it myself!" And that strength has grown every year. We've watched you learn about life, when things happen that you cannot change, about love and caring for those around you, and about sharing, giving of yourself, even at the cost of sacrifice. Just remember that the most important decisions are made with the heart, not the mind. Set your goals high and follow your dreams! We are always here for you.

Jake.

You've come a long way! One of the most mature, level headed young men we've ever known. Although you have had some challenging times, you've always persevered. You'll have some rough times in your life. But remember: as sandpaper smooths out the rough edges into a fine piece of wood, so will the hard times make you a stronger person. Hang on, endure, and "wait on the Lord" (Isaiah 40:31). We love you and are very proud to be your family!

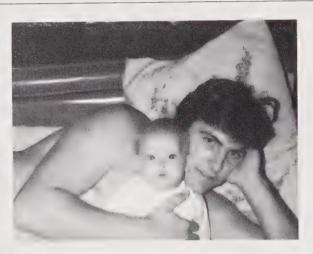

Love,

LIVE IT UP! That's a loose translation of John 10:10. Jesus said, "I came that you might have life and have it more abundantly." What a great thought! The One who created life, joy, peace, wonder, beauty, laughter, music, friendship, love... that same Person came here to earth so that we could have life to the maximum. WOW!

Our youth ministry is called LIVE IT UP because we want you to experience that maximum life, and the Person who wants to give it to you. Our purpose is to offer you opportunities that will show you how to live life to the max!

It seems like only yesterday you were starting kindergarten, and now you are nearing graduation. We are so very proud of you, your accomplishments and your stand for Jesus Christ. Always keep Christ first in your life, and you will do well. Remember Nana's verse Philippians 4:13, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Our love and prayers go with you always, wherever you go and whatever you do - God will take care of you. Pa's verse assures you of that - "My God shall supply all your need..."Phillippians 4:19. We all love you very much!

Love,

Mom, Dad,
Jason, James and Tiffani

Josh, we love you and are

We love you, Honey, and wish you all of life's best. We are very proud of you!

Love, Dad, Mom, and Ashley

Sam.

As I stop to think about you you came along. You, your dad, ar graduating from high school I have to pinch myself to make sure that it is not a dream! Seventeen years have gone by so so fast it seems you came along. You, your dad, ar all learned a lot and are still learning from each other but now it seems a though you're not only teaching us about teenage like only yesterday that you were a toddler always at my feet wanting me to read you a book. You always had a book in one hand and a toy in the other. Now after all these years you still carry a book around with you. Don't ever stop reading!!!!

God blessed our lives when he saw fit to send you into ours. We have been blessed beyond measure. We had no idea how dull our lives were until you came along. You, your dad, and I all learned a lot and are still learning from each other but now it seems as though you're not only teaching us about teenage years but you are also teaching us how to use the computer. (HA!! HA!!)

We have always taught you about God and what a close friend He can be and is. Remember Proverbs 3:6. In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths. Philippians 3:14, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

Love, Mom and Dad

Brandi,

We love you bunches, girl. No matter where you go or what you do, you will always be "our sunshine" and "sissy," too. Keep God in your heart and life. Laugh much, love much, (spend little...!), work hard, dream big. We are so proud of you and hope all your dreams come true.

Love you always, Dad, Mom, Bonnie, and Beth

Diana,

We're so proud of all your accomplishments! You have truly grown up to be a lovely, caring, genuine young lady. Believe in yourself! The world is at your doorstep. Enjoy life and all it has to offer. We're proud you're our daughter and sister!!

Kella,

We are so very proud of our "Baby," and what you have accomplished. It seems like just yesterday we struggled to get you to school. Now you have finished one phase of your life and are beginning another. All we ask is to aim high in life, follow the Lord's Will, and be strong in the Lord. We love you to infinity and will always be there for you.

Love You, Mom, Dad, Missy, and Caitlin

Matthew,

Your name means "gift of God," and you have certainly been that to us. We hope you know how proud we are of the young man you have become. You are most precious to us. We have seen God bless you in so many ways. We know he has a special plan for your life. We pray that you will always "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him and he will direct your paths" (Proverbs 3: 5-6).

We love you, son, Mom and Dad

Jason, it's hard to believe that you are a senior getting ready to move on to the next level. You are a wonderful person, and we are all so proud of you and your accomplishments. Remember, if you put God first, let him guide you, believe in yourself, and hold steadfast to your dreams, there won't be anything you can't achieve. We are always here when/ if you need us. Remember, Jason, you never lose until you quit. Don't ever, ever, ever give up!

Love, Mom, Dad, Nellie, Dawn, and Sabrina

Congratulations. We are so proud of you. You have been the joy of our lives since the day you were born with your beautiful blonde hair and blue eyes. It seems like yesterday you were starting kindergarten, and now you are graduating and getting ready to start a new phase of your life. You have grown into a beautiful, responsible young lady. God has great plans for your future, so always look to Him for guidance with all of your decisions. You will, as always, have our love and support wherever you go or whatever you do. You are our one and only, our pride and joy. May all of your hopes and dreams come true.

Congratulations to our darling daughter,
Stephaine Wright, for all our happy memories through the last 18 years.

Love, Mom and Dad

Jeremy:

It has been such a joy watching you grow up through the years. You have turned into such a fine young man, and we are so proud of you. We wish you all the happiness life can bring you as you graduate and begin a new adventure.

We love you, Dad, Mom, and Jennifer

Jeremy:

Where have all the years gone? I can't believe you're graduating when it seems just like yesterday you were in my arms. I am so very proud of you for being able to adjust to all of the many places we have lived in your 17 years of life. From being born in the South Pacific to the North, and now the South. You have had to endure a lot, unlike most kids your age, but that is why you are the Independent, Intelligent, and most Friendly and Likeable young man I know. You're my son! God Bless you in all you do and accomplish with your future.

Aloha Nui Loa, Mom

Isaac,

We are very proud of you!
Always let God guide your decisions in life!
Love,
Dad and Mom

Tonto:

It seems like only yesterday you were in kindergarten, and now you're a senior!! We are very proud of the moral stand you have taken and the beautiful young lady you have become. Congratulations on your many accomplishments! Remember we love you and wish you all the happiness and success in the world! Always keep God first, and He will guide you.

Proverbs 2: 5-6

Love, Mom, Alton, and Tricia

Kimberly,

You were our special bundle of joy the day you were born. Now you're graduating and have become a beautiful, caring, and responsible young lady. Stay on the same path and you will succeed in everything that you do. We Love You!

Love.

Mom, Dad and Matthew

Ethan.

Congratulations, Ethan! We're very proud of you! We wish the very best for you in life. Remember: we love you and will always be there for you.

All Our Love, Mom, Dad, Seth and Jasper

As we look back over the years, it is hard to believe that your Senior year has arrived. We are so proud of the young man you have become. We are proud of the things you have accomplished and we know there is going to be more to come. Always keep God first in your life, and He will take care of you. Hold on to your dreams and reach for the stars.

Love you, Mom, Dad, Russell, Nana, Clara, Papa, Pap-paw, Aunt Ruth, and Uncle Sonny

Dear Chad,

We can't believe that "Dad's Little Man" has all grown up and become such a wonderful young man! You have given us only joy and happiness these last 18 years. We are so proud of youstay always as you are today.

May God continue to bless you, and know how much we love you---- "to Jesus and back."

Our Love Always and Forever, Mom and Dad

'Chelle,

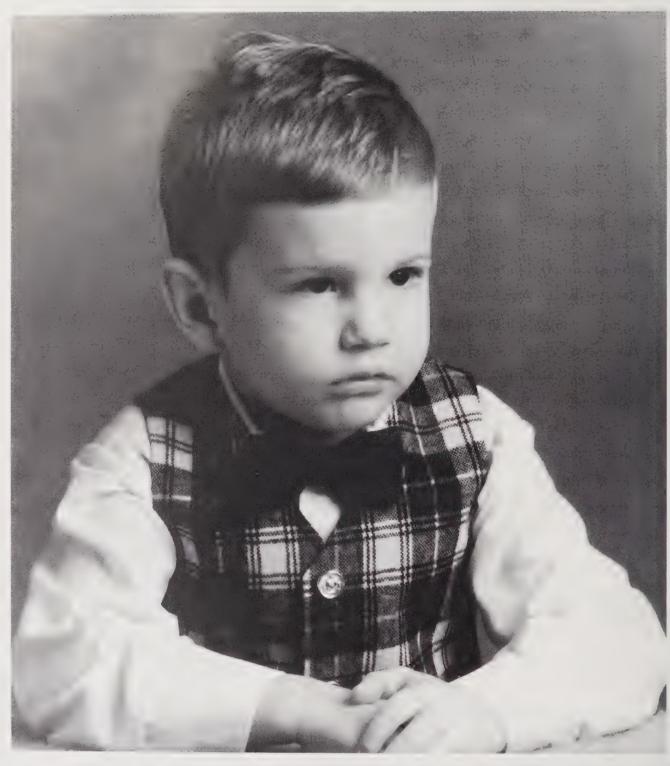

Everyday we thank God for you. It seems like yesterday we brought you home for the first time. Where does time go? We know you'll be successful at whatever you decide to do in life. It's now time to move on to the next level of learning. Always remember, we love you and cherish you. God Bless You.

Love, Mom, Dad, and Nicole

To Our Loving Son:

I will not offer a sacrifice that cost me nothing
I will not offer anything that is not worthy of Jesus Christ my King

Sherry,

We are so proud of the young lady you have become; intelligent, independent and beautiful inside and out. Your Dad and I are so blessed to have you as our daughter. Remember as you go through life, always respect yourself, keep your goals high, and accept only your best. Your family will always be with you. We love you!

Mom, Dad, Brian, Nana, Pa, MaMaw, PaPaw, Aunt Wanda, Uncle Virgil and Matthew

Dear Kandi,

My first thoughts are always to thank God for allowing me to be a big part in your life...Your mother! Kandi, you have been a beautiful blessing in my life and the lives of so many others. You are the Best Friend and I cherish that.

Thank you Mike Smith, Linda and David Bradley and Fruitland Baptist Church for loving, nurturing, supporting and teaching Kandi to be a missionary all around the world. May God bless you all!

Kandi, you are a very strong, independent, and caring person! Always put God #1 in your decisions of life.

I Love You,

Mom and your wonderful sister Karla

Some people come into our lives and quickly go.
Some people stay for a while and leave footprints on our hearts.
And we are never the same.

Congratulations, Son! Love, Mom, Dad, and Todd

Jessica,

You are our greatest blessing, and we are so very proud of you. As you step from this phase of your life, go with great enthusiasm and pride that you can accomplish anything you choose. Make your walk through life staying close to God, and His love, guidance and blessings will be yours.

Love, Mom and Dad

Congratulations, Dallas,

As you start out in the world, may God bless you with love, health, and happiness. We will always be here for you.

Love, Mom, Dad, and Derreck

Kelly,

You will always be our "little princess." We are very proud of you and love you very much.

Tiff, I can't believe that you are about to graduate and will be leaving us for college. It seems like just yesterday that you were crawling into bed and snuggling with your Dad. You have always been a special gift from God, and have always made us proud. Remember who you are and never compromise your values and goals that make you who you are. As you go through life, remember in some small way you take a little of us with you. We will always love and respect you, Booba.

Dear Stephanie,

1999 has come so fast If only we could slow down time and make your childhood last.

We would relive the days, your friend, Lollipop. But Reddy is a memory that will never be forgot.

You always make us proud and your antics make us laugh. Remember to acknowledge the Lord and let Him direct your path.

Another school year ends as the buses pul out of the parking lot and the students head for home. Hopefully in the right direction.

North: (n) 1. the direction to the left of one facing the sun

- 2. point directly opposite south on the compass
- 3. towards the "magnetic" or "true" north pole

Looking back upon the year, we see that many of our "directions" have changed. Maybe your goal was to attend a certain college, or to succeed in a sport. We are beginning to realize that it's not just school anymore, and we are making decisions that may affect us for the rest of our lives. The grades we make, the tests we take, and even what we do in our spare time begins to point towards what we will pursue after graduation. Some of us have realized we have no direction at all. Most of us will probably even change "directions" again as we get older. Regardless, we all have a "true north", a definite direction we are headed in. What is your "true north"? It is up to you to decide.

Matt Vuncannon, Neal Cauley, Steven Hyder, Jon-Jon McMillian, and Josh Pittillo take a little time to cool off during a basketball game. Students and faculty enjoyed going to basketball games this year.

Sherrone Darity, Sherelle Darity, Kawana Davis, and Dea Pepper show their love for the camera. These four friends could always be seen goofing off and making everyone laugh.

Senior Adam Huntley gazes adoringly at his dead frog while trying to decide to eat it or not. Adam could always be counted or to be the class clown and to find humor in the most digusting situations.
